Reason 12 Recipe Book

Sound recipes for the rack. Each card: what to patch, every setting, and the skill it teaches.

HIP-HOP RECIPES

Anti-Recipes — Hip-Hop — sounds like what makes rap productions sound amateur [accuracy A]

Anxious Loop-Build — sounds like Doechii "Anxiety" [accuracy C]

Boom-Bap Drum Bus — sounds like 90s East Coast knock — DJ Premier / Pete Rock era [accuracy B]

Hip-Hop Mix Glue — sounds like a modern rap record — loud, controlled low end, vocal on top [accuracy B]

Jazzy Chord-Planing Boom-Bap — sounds like Doechii "Denial Is a River" [accuracy B]

Lo-Fi Sample Chop — sounds like dusty chopped-soul loop — J Dilla / Madlib texture [accuracy B]

Trap 808 — sounds like Metro Boomin-era trap sub with knock [accuracy B]

Upfront Rap Vocal — sounds like modern rap vocal — dry, close, every word intelligible [accuracy B]

ROCK RECIPES

80s Gated Snare — sounds like Phil Collins "In the Air Tonight" / 80s power ballads [accuracy A]

Anti-Recipes — Rock — sounds like what makes rock mixes sound amateur [accuracy A]

Driven Rock Bass — sounds like Royal Blood / Muse — distorted bass that still has low end [accuracy B]

Gritty Rock Vocal — sounds like 90s alt-rock lead vocal (Foo Fighters / grunge era) [accuracy B]

Rock Mix Glue — sounds like a finished rock record instead of separate tracks [accuracy B]

Shoegaze Guitar Wall — sounds like My Bloody Valentine / Slowdive wash [accuracy C]

How to read accuracy: A = stock Reason nails it. B = fools most ears. C = good approximation. D = needs gear stock Reason doesn't have.